Eruzione was a talented hockey player from Winthrop, Massachusetts. He was drafted by the Boston Bruins in 1973, but his NHL career was derailed by a series of injuries.

After being cut by the Bruins, Eruzione returned home to Massachusetts and began to drink heavily. He lost his job, his wife, and his home.

But in 1979, Eruzione got a second chance. He was named the captain of the United States Olympic hockey team. The team was a long shot to win a medal, but Eruzione led them to a stunning victory over the Soviet Union in the "Miracle on Ice."

Eruzione's story is one of redemption, perseverance, and hope. It is a story that will inspire anyone who has ever faced adversity.

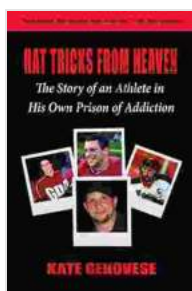

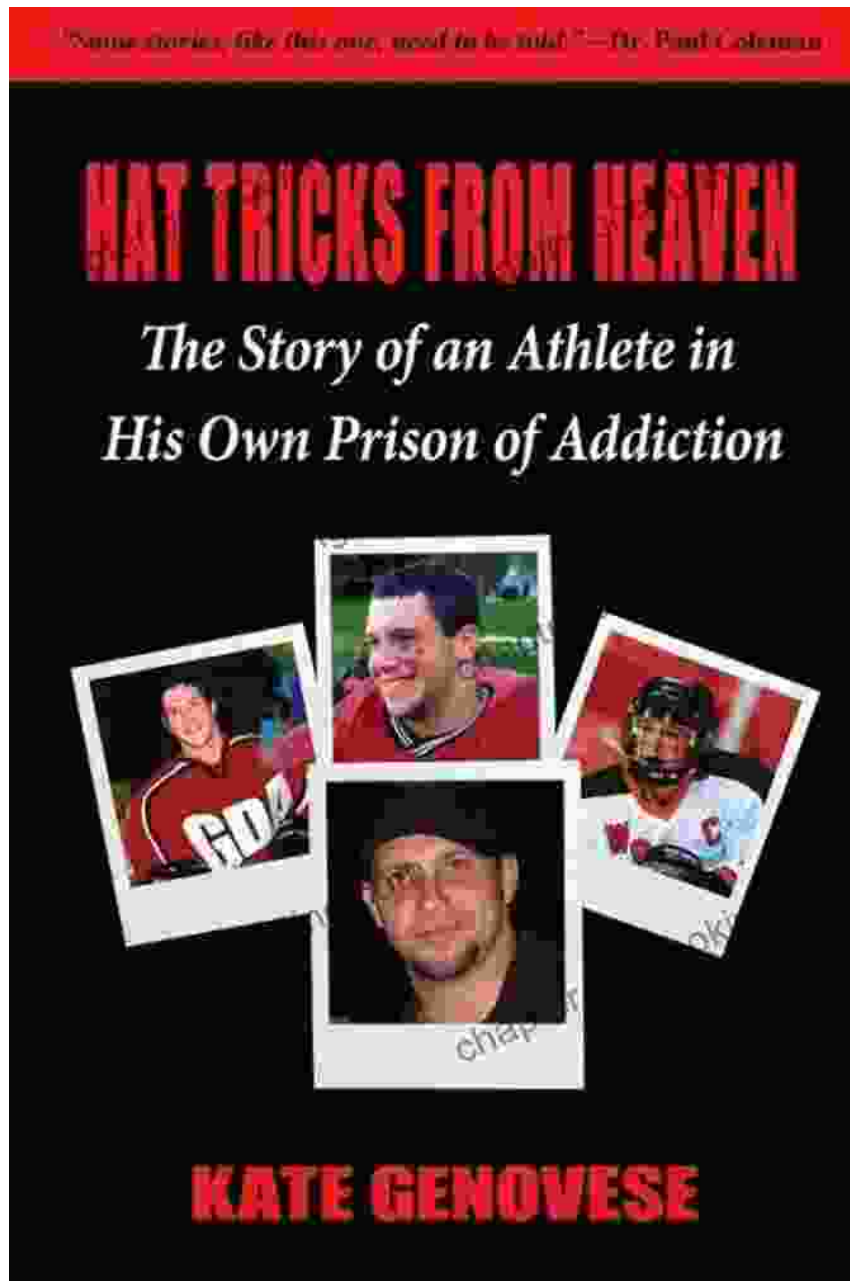

In Hat Tricks From Heaven, Eruzione shares his inspiring story with readers. He writes about his struggles with addiction, his journey back to sobriety, and his triumph on the Olympic stage.

Hat Tricks From Heaven is a must-read for hockey fans, sports fans, and anyone who loves a good story about redemption.

Here is a excerpt from Hat Tricks From Heaven:

> "I remember sitting in the locker room after the game, just sobbing. I couldn't believe what we had just accomplished. We had beaten the Soviet Union, the best team in the world. It was a miracle."
